

HOME FROM CHICAGO.

TAMMANY HALL MEN GLUM AND SILENT.
ACTION SOON TO BE TAKEN BY THE COMMITTEE ON ORGANIZATION.

The Tammany Hall delegation to Chicago, which left city at 5 p.m. on Friday, arrived in New-York yesterday morning, the first section, composed of twelve cars, reached the Central Park Hotel at 6:45, and the second section, composed of four cars, at 7. John Kelly was in the Wagner car Buffalo in the first section, accompanied by General Spina, James H. Mooney and others. All the most wore white plaid hats which were in varying degrees of dilapidation and looked though they had been through a harrot sort of a time. A brass band played "Home Sweet Home" to the second section. There was no other demonstration.

All along the route from Buffalo the delegation, and especially Mr. Kelly, were received with great enthusiasm by the crowds of people that assembled at the stations. At Buffalo, Rochester and Syracuse speeches were made from the car platforms by ex-Senator Griswold, William Bourke Cockran and ex-Assistant District-Attorney Brady, while at Utica the great Tammany chief was accorded a greater ovation than any he received with great cheering. In his remarks Mr. Kelly did not indicate what would be the attitude of Tammany toward Governor Cleveland in the Presidential campaign. The Committee on Organization will have a meeting early in the week, when the subject will be fully discussed and a decision made. This decision will be submitted to the General Committee of Tammany Hall, which will meet in September, confirmation.

The Tammany men, especially the chiefs, were in a particularly bad humor when they reached New-York and were not inclined to express their opinion as to whether they would support Cleveland and Hendricks; but it was evident from the remarks which fell from the lips of several of the ranks and file, who were not so disposed as their leaders, that the feeling was strongly against Cleveland, and that if they were to vote for him it would be because they were told to do so, and not because they do.

Will Tammany Hall support Cleveland and Hendricks? A Tribune reporter asked John Kelly.

"I have nothing to say about that," said Mr. Kelly.

"Will you support the ticket?"

"I cannot tell you."

"Have you decided what you will do?"

"No, and nothing will be said at present."

"Do you think Cleveland can carry New-York State?"

"I don't know. I will not talk."

Ex-Senator Thomas F. Brady was asked: "What was the attitude of Tammany Hall toward the Chicago nominations?"

"I cannot tell you," said the Senator.

"Why not?"

"Because I don't know. No one knows or can know until after we have had a consultation on the subject of our constituents."

"Is there any especial reason why you will not talk now?"

"Yes. We have agreed among ourselves not to say anything."

"Will Tammany Hall support the ticket made at Chicago?" the reporter inquired of William Bourke Cockran.

"Well, it will take a blanketed good Turkish bath to clear my ideas so that I can answer that question," was his reply.

Buddy said that the greetings of the Tammany delegation in all the large cities of New-York along the railroads from Buffalo to New-York had been cordial.

"Was it not enthusiasm over the nomination of Cleveland?" was asked.

"Not a bit. It was an indication of the feeling of those people toward John Kelly and Tammany Hall."

Policeman-singer Sidney P. Nichols, who was informed of a severe cold contract at Chicago, was asked: "How are you satisfied with the result of the convention?"

"Well, it is not what we had hoped for," he replied.

Will Tammany Hall support the ticket?"

I learned say yet what will be done until the Tammany Committee on Organization have met. No one can speak authoritatively for the organization. The subject will be settled at the meeting of the Committee on Organization. It was agreed before we left Chicago that a meeting of the committee should be held soon after our return."

HAPPY IRVING HALL REPRESENTATIVES, VENGEFUL MURPHY TRAVEL-STAINED BUT CONFIDENT —THE HENDERSON BOYS.

A snorting engine dashed into the Jersey City depot of the Erie Railroad at about 6 o'clock last night with its special train for the Atlantic City, N.J., and New York delegation. A delicate warning a toy master on the top of his high white hat jumped off the train, and then a shower of high white hats came out with the other delegates, and a general rush was made for the ferry-boats. A long train greeted the party at the pier, but by the time of the arrival of the cars from the New-York side the sky had cleared. Travel-stained and begrimed, wreaths and button-hole bouquets soiled with dust, the delegates were in good spirits and spoke enthusiastically of their trip to the convention. The special train left Chicago at noon on Saturday, stops being made at Hampton Falls, and the party breakfasted at Hornellsville and dined at Narrowsburg. Sheriff Davidson and Luke F. Clegg stayed over for another day in Chicago. Senator Michael C. Murphy's face was well freckled with dirt and he smiled gaily as he told what was said to him. "It was dirtier than he had ever been seen to be." To a Tribune reporter Colonel Murphy said:

"I am greatly pleased with the nomination and I think more of it than I did on Friday, in the light of the reception which was given to us in New-York. I am very glad to see that the Tammany men are in fact at all the stations we were received with enthusiasm. How about Tammany? Well, I cannot speak for them, but just like from me. The delegation had to leave the cars at the station, and the men who came up to the door of the cars said, 'We are not going to give you any extra car, and the Tammany men has been seen in any particular house. We were promised beforehand for all the movements that the anti-Cleveland men made.'

Murphy said:

"The delegation lacked experience as a traveling office, but found that he acquired himself with great credit. The convention was a body of men. The enthusiasm displayed for Hendricks on Friday was unexampled in the country. The men who came up to the door of the cars said, 'In fact all the elements wanted to stampede the convention for him, but they did not take a single Cleveland man. Cleveland's losses were so great that he could not afford to lose a single man to the anti-Cleveland men. They were present in every man except Cleveland. I did not find any great dissatisfaction after the nomination. I don't think they intend to oppose him."

Speaking on the details of the convention Colonel Murphy said:

The enthusiasm displayed for Hendricks on Friday was unexampled in the country. THE COUNTY DEMOCRATS JUBILANT. PROMISING CLEVELAND BIGGER VOTE THAN WAS GIVEN TO TILDEN.

The blanting music of a brass band yesterday continued a few minutes with a deep-toned bell which was being vigorously rung on an incoming train at the Hawkenway terminus of the Wabash and Western at 10:30 o'clock last night, the bell getting rather the strain of it. Then the train stopped and the strains of "Home Again" could be heard. It was a welcome to the delegates of the County Democracy, who, with their supporters, had just returned from Chicago to the number of 600. They bundled impetuously out of the train and made homeward for theerry-boat, the jubilant them. On theerry-boat some fireworks were discharged and the band dispersed much musical music. When the New-York shore was reached Hubert O. Thompson stopped the band, not wishing to disturb the Sabbath quiet of New-York.

A Tribune reporter talked with a number of delegates. They all told one story, "Cleveland will be elected by a large majority, and John Kelly will fall into line and support him." "There is nothing else for him to do," said County Clerk Keenan, "except to fall into the arms of Tammany."

"But we must not do too kindly to Cleveland's nomination in New-York."

"Oh, that's nothing," said Mr. Keenan, "Tammany's bees buzzing in their ears. They'll come into line, too, when Tammany comes."

Police Justice White said: "We've had the best kind of a time, and found enthusiasm for Cleveland all along the line. New-York State will give him a larger majority than it gave him in '76, Kelly."

Robert O. Thompson said: "I think the nominations at Chicago by the Democratic party are the worst that could possibly have been made, both the head and the tail of the ticket. There is no question in my mind about its success. We shall not only poll the full Democratic vote, but a bigger Democratic vote than any other candidate that could have been named would have brought out."

"I was surprised to see how well the nominations were received along the route home."

Col. R. J. Fellows did not arrive last night, having remained in the West to visit some relatives.

WORKINGMEN AGAINST CLEVELAND. DENOUNCED BY TRADES UNIONISTS AND LABORERS—A VARIETY OF OBJECTIONS TO HIM.

The feeling against Cleveland among the trades unionists is strong and unanimous. The leaders do not express any opinion, however, as to what action will be taken except that Cleveland will not, under any circumstances, receive the support of the members of the Association of Butler is awaited with great anxiety and should be enabled to remain in the field he will receive a heavy vote from the working element in this city, if the opinions expressed by the principal men in the unions may be relied on. Should he draw out from the race, the vote will either go to him or remain at home. The most noisy expression among the workingmen is: "I'm for Butler, if I can't get these Blaines."

George Blair, president of the State Workingmen's Assembly, said to a Tribune reporter yesterday: "I shall not vote for Cleveland, I am certain. I don't know what action he will take in the workingmen, and do not wish to express any opinion. I am for the convention of the State Workingmen's Assembly, which will be held on August 11 at Utica. We have good reasons for declining to support Mr. Cleveland. He has persistently opposed labor legislation since he became Governor. He vetoed the five-cent law, the 12-hour bill, railroad emoluments, and appointed a patrolman to the head of the labor bureau. These are a few of the grounds for our opposition. I feel certain that he will be defeated."

"I shall vote for Blaine," said Michael McGrath, of the Lathers Union. "I hate to do it, but I can't help it. I have to make this election effective."

John Malen, ex-veteran delegate of the Bricklayers' Union, said: "I have been a Democrat ever since I voted, but I am not this time. I will vote for Butler, if he stays in the race. I will vote for Blaine. My friends voted for him in November. The letter of acceptance from the club to the workingmen is: 'I'm for Butler, if I can't get these Blaines.'

Twelve stalks of every trembled in the twelve bands of the listeners as the Chief Rule told the Trenton Club at their thirty-first regular dinner at Martineau's last night that he had something important to communicate, his twelve fellow-members pricked up their ears. Then in a voice which strove to conceal his emotion, the Chief Rule read out the contents of the club, which he would not allow himself to be coaxed back again, and so the string went home to their stables.

COSTERNATION IN THE THIRTEEN CLUB.

When Chief Rule S. Henry Witham told the Trenton Club at their thirty-first regular dinner at Martineau's last night that he had something important to communicate, his twelve fellow-members pricked up their ears. Then in a voice which strove to conceal his emotion, the Chief Rule read out the contents of the club, which he would not allow himself to be coaxed back again, and so the string went home to their stables.
